HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Joe DiMaggio is trying to win back Marilyn Monroe, but his friends say Saturday morning's announcement that the couple are still together is a charade. Monroe, the "Seven Year Itch" star, was granted a divorce from DiMaggio on Friday. She was "cold and indifferent"

The eighth annual Vancouver university training could easily be the best ever. The 1,200 students in white uniforms and caps will be in Victoria for nearly one year's time.

There are 1,290 seafarers from points as far apart as Campbell River and the Bay of Fundy. The three-day gathering is to be held at the University of British Columbia, and the 1,290 students will be divided into 30 and 91.

Her friends say Marilyn is "a person of infinite charm and a person of a personality," she may not even be very attractive, but she is a person of a personality that is a year old. She is a person who will not be sharing bed and board again.

Monroe's present, author of the book she died in 1952, wrote a touching poem and story in eulogies.

Around Town

Leaf-Burning
Bemsogs City

Sogs which laid a haze over many sections of Greater Victoria yesterday afternoon did not drift north from Los Angeles—it resulted from the common autumn practice of leaf-burning.

Smoke from hundreds of burning leafs clogged the air, particularly in the early morning and fog in mid-morning. The haze, however, had to wait until the afternoon.

Tomorrow could occur again. The smog did not affect plane schedules as much which caused some all flight.

Planes landed and departed no solo flights at Vancouver airport, where the planes were two TCA trans-continental planes, a large RCAF aircraft and a prop plane. No flights from planes from the Far East to land at Vancouver or the Air- port had to come here instead of Vancouver.

Victoria has joined the Employment Situation 'Regular.'

The employment picture is "regular" for this time of year in Victoria, but women are finding it much more difficult than usual to find positions, according to C. A. Mitchell, local manager of the National Employment Service.

Small layoffs during the past few weeks have not overbalanced the number of jobs available for the number of unemployed persons finding.

More jobs for men are being filled, but there are still two weeks, as the construction industry continues to expand and demand increases for professional men and special salesmen.

As for females, there are no demands for stenographers and need for waitresses, waiters, waiters, and food workers in the factories. Factory workers are still needed in good numbers.

Jobs listed from other employment offices include auto-parts, electrical, electrical, food chemist, pianist, chemist and TV repairmen.

A service that will provide information on the work opportunities with jobs listed in the newspaper.

City Told
In Report

Victoria should keep its Gordon Head property for air use rather than selling it for housing, says a recent aviation conference.

City council, on information he received from the West Aviation Council and the B.C. Aviation Council meeting in Vancouver, was told that his report was correct.

His values are not harmed by an airport, according to the report of the West Aviation Council and its president and appraiser.

Victoria's Gordon Head property is not far from town.

It is the only place in the city to compete with conventional airports for aircraft landing space.

For at least three years, Gordon Head has been the landing space at least 1,000 feet for safety.

It is the only serious airport in the city to sacrifice the use of its land for the airport is a pristine and white of Greater Victoria.

He suggested that in addition to the Gordon Head property, the city should enter into an agreement with the Hulbertson Bay Co. which is in the adjoining park, which is in the same structure.

Meetings at the aviation meetings from Victoria were City Manager Cecil Wyatt, Mr. Walther Holmes and Mr. Macmillan.

Curved Plywood In Decoration Adds Distinction

Large smooth surfaces and simple curves are decorative features of storage walls, counters, buffets, cabinets and other furniture in the home. Walls with clean flowing curves are rounded corners give attractive lines to household furniture.

For plywood is ideal material for rounded furniture. The home handyman armed with a few basic hints on "bend" shaping and a few simple tools can produce features that have a modern, progressive appearance. Curves across the grain serve as a guide for bending various thicknesses of plywood when curves are required, although it is suggested that the thickness of plywood be determined by the bending qualities of two thin panels instead of one. The bending radius of a panel is determined by the thickness of the panel and grain characteristics.

If the radius required is greater than the amount given in the table, it is suggested that a series of experiments be made. Inside face of the plywood will be bent approximately to the radii in the table. Outside face of the plywood will be bent to a radius of 10 feet or more. Plywood will be bent to a radius of 10 feet or more when thicker than 4/8 inch, may

Extra Half-Story Has Many Advantages

There's a lot to be said in favor of the 1 1/2-story house for the growing family. In addition to the advantages of construction, it offers the advantage of being able to leave finishing of upper room to the builder. The main point in its favor is the smaller frontage required, compared to a single-story house of the same size. A 45-foot or 70-foot lot will accommodate this house, depending on the town. Details of these plans can be addressed to Home Building in Canada, 2842 Bloor Street West, Toronto 18, Ontario.

planned interior provides many extras such as the separate breakfast room, the large sunroom, the large walk-in floor washroom. Notice also the extra entrance from the patio into the dining room. The house has a total of 1,800 square feet—or 18,520 cubic feet. The garage adds another 234 square feet—the two-car garage. ## Insulation in Interior Walls Keeps Noise from Spreading

By J. RALPH DALzell

Author of Books on Home
Improvement

Agreat many readers have asked for information on how to insulate interior walls to reduce transmission of sound between rooms and from floor to ceiling.

The two sets of joints are separate ways to insulate floors before painting, and keep wall insulation sound. Two sets of joints should be applied.

To reduce transmission of sound between rooms and from floor to ceiling, the joints between joists should be sealed.

Radio, TV, children at school and other noise can be reduced if the joints between joists are sealed.

Votes Scheduled In Rural Areas Despite Protests

(Special to The Daily Colonist)

DUNCAN—Eleven meetings to school board of District 65 will be held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday despite vigorous protests by residents of the rural areas.

W. E. Williston and other government officials charged that the protesters have charged an infringement of the franchise rights of the school board. Years meetings have been held on separate nights to avoid residents of the rural areas where they owned property.

Mr. Williston said the television this year ruled that the franchise rights could be changed.

"They have not provided for people who seek to retain their franchise rights," he said. "How could they do that?"

The protesters stand the official board of Shawinigan-Cobble Hill Farmers' Union.

George E. Bonner, acting chairman of the school board, said the board had no objection to the meetings.

Mr. Bonner said the chief matter is to locate after all.

Risking Same Result

THERE may be some surprise among those who understand fully the genuine need for added classroom accommodation in School District 61 that the Greater Victoria Board of Education, in conjunction with the province, has decided upon another referendum. In September, however, the controversial December elections were held.

Up to now major money matters under municipal control have been left to the taxpayers on their individual merits. The council-by-law was the traditional method of dealing with the school with the council or other civic body, but the final decision in each case was in the hands of the voters. To give the area school board doing business in four municipalities the right by "referendum" to tax on the basis of the whole area, with open terms as to period, rate of interest and precise use of the funds so secured, is to shift the authority for the school purpose from the council to a new and supra-municipal taxing body.

The Greater Victoria School District 61 would still set the general purpose rate, but if this method is employed they would lose the right to tax on the basis of their respective territories. Debts cannot be incurred without carrying the burden of repayment on the amount recovered by school taxes and therefore the mill rates. In Greater Victoria, the new and supra-municipal amalgamation—the creation of a new regional taxing body—will be good for or a bad for the school districts, depending on the result of the obligation.

Hunters Play the Game

J. ASTH, hunting season. MacLean & B. Ltd., made an interesting experiment in the Alberni district which has worked out very well. Under agreements reached between company officers and the department of lands, the company's employees and week ends are allowed to camp in company lands, with the exception of areas kept as preserves for the protection of the recommissioned fish and game, and for the actions of their members. The rules make it a duty upon protest to report to land office, and their right to hunt is given to young trees.

It is an experiment which gave hunters and fishermen a valuable privilege in exchange for the practice of sportsmanship; and Harman News, the company's staff magazine, reports pleasure those benefits from the experience have worked out very well. ## A Poor Substitution

MANY citizens have watched with dismay the transformation that has taken place in the Causeway, where the familiar cluster lights have been replaced by single poles. The utility companies have had their lights out but it cannot be said that the amenities of Victoria's front door have been enhanced. The causeway now has only cluster standards that have often been debased but there is still point to the argument that it is a point of choice that has little to recommend it.

If it were simply a case of more illumination, the argument would be factor in this instance. It would seem that this could easily have been effected by replacing the single poles with a few more testing this arm upwards to the desired height, there to be fitted with the more powerful type of globe preferred. In this way a pictorial feature of the harbor frontage could be maintained, the new poles not being so burdensome but they compare with the single poles in height. In addition the scene is not improved by the strand of wire strung along the causeway which has been there for this day and age that seems decidedly a backward step.

That is the argument that credit is coming to those responsible for the Causeway lighting. The argument is that the lighting without deprecating the look of a thoroughfare which has a host of new visitors to this city. All in all the new standards are a matter for regret.

Thin End of the Wedge

There have been a great many comments on the thin end of the wedge that has been used for taxation purposes but it seems to us that Mr. Kirk's comments at the Chamber of Commerce meeting in Victoria, which seems to have been overlooked in the press, are the payment tax.

Mr. Kirk, we call him the thin end of the wedge and feel that the broad end will be personal property that has with every element of personal property that has with Government's do, usually abide their hands. The thin end of the wedge is to start with a light tap they increase the punishment until we have built up a resistance to it. It is a wedge that has been half as hard as half as powerful.

CONCLUDING REMARKS—CONTRARY TO what the T.A.P. says, we are apt to overlook.

None could well become the Duponts of the west for working for the thin end difference he may in the long run go much further than his Quebec counterpart.

With one notable exception, Halloween is an important day for the welfare of the community. The exception is the act of "trick or treat" which is to be common.

Credit for this happy state of affairs is due to the Victoria Kinsmen and the Victoria Club whose annual Halloween party for disabled children has had the effect of channelling off the exuberance and fun of the day of celebration.

Vote of Thanks

The second annual women's auxiliary party conducted by the Junior Women's Association of the United Church was a huge success again.

The main attraction of the program, however, was not the social aspect but the opportunity for the satisfaction of service to others.

There must be in this district a number of girls who have not yet been married. In the last few years, many have settled into steady employment and have married. The church can full use of their talents and abilities.

We would like to suggest to them that they consider the work of the auxiliary of the province's training hospitals where they may fill themselves for careers of service and help to relieve the worldwide shortage of nurses.

Not Impressive

The entrance to the T.A.P. hanger is not unlike that of a small airfield in the interior. The building is a simple affair, the exterior building is likely to be avoided little enthusiasm.

—GOWAN LEADER

On viewing various airports across the Dominion and elsewhere, it is difficult to imagine a less impressive hanger than the T.A.P. hanger. The true harmony with the thought, the true beauty of all written or spoken communication, is that it is the ability to create your own mental picture of the world around you. In this case, the breath of the world, and it is very broad, you would understand very quickly that this was not a short—actually the prime virtue of a colloquium, which makes it valid.

The reader is left to draw his own conclusions as to the wisdom of this hanger, and least you conclude I am by this time rather involved in a conflict with the T.A.P., I would like to add.

It is that the only drawbacks to the use of such a lovely word as "gulf" is the difficulty of spelling it.
